IN THE SOCIAL WORLD

Thanksgiving Marked by Informal Dinners.

SMALL WHITE HOUSE PARTY

With Family, President Spends Part of Holiday at Montpelier, Va., the Home of Madison, and in Evening Dines with Mr. and Mrs. Longworth—Miss Noble's Debutante Tea.

The President and Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Ethel and Quentin, who returned yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock from Montpelier, Va., where they visited the home of ex-President James Madison, were joined at dinner last night by Representative and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth and Mr. John Greenway, who are guests at the White House. Dinner was served at 8 o'clock in the state dining-room, where oysters and turkey, wild and domesticated, were the chief features on the menu. No callers were received during the evening.

The trip to Montpelier began at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. The President laid flowers on the tomb of the dead President, and taking lunch with William Davenport, who now occupies the place, Representative and Mrs. Longworth remained at the White House, and after luncheon, Mrs. Longworth was out motoring, steering the machine herself quite skillfully.

The home of Vice President and Mrs. Fairbanks was the scene of a merry holiday gathering, the home circle being supplemented by a number of Indianians, fellow-statemans, and the ladies of their families. Mr. Robert Fairbanks arrived in the city several days ago to spend the holiday, and he and Mrs. Timmons, the only younger members of the family, were the only visitors who also affected the Vice President's mother, whose anticipated visit has been postponed until later in the season.

In the Cabinet circle nearly every house observed informally the national holiday, with the possible exception of the Executive mansion. There are no house guests entertained there at present. The Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Metcalf entertained a dinner party of ten at their residence, in N street, which was perhaps the most formal of the evening entertainments. Mr. George Bruce Cortelyou, Jr., is spending Thanksgiving with his parents, the Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Cortelyou, where a family reunion marked the occasion. At the residence of the Secretary of Commerce and Labor and Mrs. Strauss and the Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Garfield only very informal family dinners were given. Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson and the Speaker of the House, Joseph G. Cannon, were guests for dinner of Representative and Mrs. Mann at their home, in Rhode Island avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Giles Moore were hosts at dinner last evening at their home, in Fifteenth street.

The British Ambassador and Mrs. Bryce will leave Washington to-day for New York, where they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carnegie.

Miss Russell, who has been the guest of Mr. G. Young, of the British Embassy, and Mrs. Young, will leave Washington to-day.

The tea given by Mr. and Mrs. William Belden Noble, introducing their daughter, Miss Yulice Noble, was the most interesting social function of yesterday afternoon, and brought together all of Washington's most prominent social contingent. Receiving with Mrs. Noble were Mrs. James R. Garfield, wife of the Secretary of the Interior; Mrs. White, wife of Justice Edward D. White; Mrs. Bayard, Mrs. Neff, Mrs. Charles Fox, and Mrs. William P. Wise, of Baltimore. The debutante was charmingly gowned in white chiffon over silk made in modified empire style and embroidered in gold. Her bouquet, one of many which were sent to her, was a cluster of orchids and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Noble wore a gown of gray chiffon velvet trimmed with silver lace. The decorations in the house were elaborate. In the reception hall white chrysanthemums and ferns made a background for the merry throng, and in the dining-room pink predominated in the color scheme of the floral arrangement. Among the debutantes assisting were Miss Constance Hoyt, Miss Mary Scott, Miss Henrietta Fitch, and Miss Katherine Leech.

The wedding of Miss Maude V. Righter, daughter of Mrs. Isabel Righter, to Mr. Thomas H. Armstrong was celebrated last evening at 7 o'clock in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends at the Second Baptist Church, Rev. E. H. Swen officiating. Miss Helen Marston, as honor maid, was the bride's only attendant, and Mr. Henry Gardner acted as best man for the bridegroom. Mr. Arthur Richter, Mr. Iva Phelps, Mr. William Nalley, and Mr. James Dewley were ushers.

The wedding gown was a dainty creation of white tulle over taffeta, trimmed with Irish point lace. A wreath of orange blossoms carried the full tulle veil to the hair, and the bride's bouquet was a shower of bride roses. The bride's attendant wore a becoming gown of pink silk and carried a cluster of chrysanthemums. A reception followed the services at the residence of the bride's mother from 7:30 to 10 o'clock. The newly married couple stood in a bower of palms and cut flowers to receive the congratulations, the decorations extending to the adjoining rooms. Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong will make their future home with Mrs. Richter.

Count von Hatzfeldt, of the German Embassy, has just returned after several months' leave in Germany.

Representative and Mrs. Richmond Pearson Hobson are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a son, born Wednesday, at their home in S street. Mrs. Hobson before her marriage was Miss Griselda Hull, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hull, of Tuxedo, have taken apartments at the Connecticut to spend the winter near their daughter and son-in-law.

Senator and Mrs. Elkins entertained at dinner last night.

Thanksgiving Day at the home of Dr. Robert Kendrick, 324 Fourteenth street northwest, was made a memorable occasion in the reception, tendered to Rev. Dr. Charles F. Christmas, a former provincial of the Dominican order, and at present professor of moral theology at the Dominican College, Somerset, Ohio. Among those present were Mary A. Riordan, the writer.

Mrs. W. F. Tucker and her mother, Mrs. John A. Logan, entertained at dinner last evening, their guests being Mr. and Mrs. James P. Barbour, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Barbour, Mrs. May Broome, Miss Margaret Barbour, Miss Clara Price, Miss Logan, and Lieut. Logan Tucker.

Gen. George L. Gillespie, U. S. A., and Mrs. Gillespie entertained at dinner last night, complimentary to Mrs. David Butlerfield, of New York, who came on to attend the Root-Grant wedding Wednesday. Invited to meet her were a few of her old friends in the army circle, including Gen. John R. Brooke, U. S. A.; Mrs. Brooke, Gen. George A. Davis, U. S. A., and Mrs. Davis, Miss Mount, Mrs. Butler, and Rear Admiral George Reiter, U. S. N.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Fellew gave a tea yesterday afternoon for Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Fellew, of New York, who were also on for the Root-Grant wedding.

Justice Henry E. Brown, of the Supreme Court, retired, and Mrs. Brown entertained at a Thanksgiving dinner last night at their residence, in Sixteenth street, complimentary to Mr. Hamilton Gay Howard, recently from California, who is a son of the late United States Senator Gifford Howard, of Michigan, and whose secretary he was from 1883 to 1887. Mr. Howard has written a book embodying his reminiscences of that time called "Civil War Echoes, Character Sketches, and State Secrets." He is a graduate of Williams College.

Yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock Miss Alma Herrie and Alfred H. Keim, of this city, were married at the home of the bride, 646 C street northeast, by the Rev. John Compton Ball, pastor of the Maryland Avenue Baptist Church, in Northeast Washington. Only the intimate friends and immediate relatives of the contracting parties were present at the ceremony. Mr. Ralph Quick was best man, and Miss Elsie Herrie the maid of honor. The bride wore a handsome robe of white messaline silk trimmed in white duchess lace, and carried a huge shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Elsie Herrie, maid of honor, wore pale green silk. The parlor decorations consisted of palms and white chrysanthemums. The bride-elect is a graduate of the Eastern High School, and the groom is a prosperous young Washington man and is employed in the government service. The happy couple left last evening for an extensive wedding trip by sea to Cuba. They will also tour portions of old Mexico before they return to Washington. Mrs. Keim wore as her traveling dress a modish suit of dark gray broadcloth. The couple will

AMADOR IN THE CITY

President of Panama Comes as Nation's Guest.

VISITS WHITE HOUSE TO-DAY

Head of Newest Republic in the World to Dine with President and Mrs. Roosevelt, and Later Attend Army and Navy Reception in His Honor—Talks of the Canal.

President Amador, of Panama, the newest republic in the world, arrived in Washington yesterday afternoon from New York, and will visit the President this afternoon. This evening President and Mrs. Amador will take dinner with President and Mrs. Roosevelt, and in the evening will attend a reception, at which they will meet many of the high army and navy officers and a number of citizens high in Washington circles. This morning will be spent in sightseeing, and to-morrow President Amador will make a pilgrimage to Mount Vernon, the tomb of Washington. Sunday, with his party, he will return to New York, to remain until December 14, when he will sail for Colon.

Discussing the progress of the Panama Canal, President Amador said that he has been in Europe for six months, and only knows what he has heard of the work, but that before he left progress was good.

Talks of the Canal.

"I do not pretend to say when it will be completed," he said, in answer to a query if it would be done in six years; "that is a question for the engineers. I have no doubt but that it will greatly benefit our country when completed. We are trying to get more Italians and Spanish immigrants in our country to develop the agricultural possibilities. There is a law excluding Chinese and Syrians, and there are few Japanese laborers in the country."

Concerning the Peace Conference now in session in Washington, President Amador expressed the hope that the countries which are sister republics of Panama will get together in lasting peace, for the good of progress. He expressed the belief that the completion of the railroad connecting North and South America will go far toward making peace. He will not visit the conference, but will informally meet the delegates.

Members of the Party.

In the Presidential party, in addition to Mrs. Amador, are his daughter, Mrs. Ehrman, and his granddaughter, Miss Ehrman; his secretary, J. Lefevre, who is a brother of the well-known financial writer, Mrs. M. Lewis, Misses Ramona and Helen Lefevre, nieces of the President; the son of the President, M. E. Amador, consul general to New York; Russell Hopkins, consul to Atlanta, and Manuel Quintana, consul to San Francisco.

300 WED IN PITTSBURG.

One of the Features of Observance of Thanksgiving Day.

Pittsburg, Nov. 28.—With a majority of the big industrial establishments closed; dinners to the worthy poor, and a musical show and dinner to more than 1,000 prisoners in the Western Pennsylvania penitentiary; special church services and theatrical attractions; many football contests, the most important being the annual game between the Western University of Pennsylvania and Pennsylvania State College, the Thanksgiving celebration was observed in a fitting manner by Pittsburgers to-day.

In addition to numerous other features, it is estimated that throughout the city more than 200 marriage ceremonies were solemnized.

STEAM YACHT BURNED.

Kanawha Was a Dispatch Boat During the War with Spain.

Brunswick, Me., Nov. 28.—The steam yacht Kanawha, owned by Hartly C. Baxter, of Brunswick, and valued at $6,000, was burned to the water's edge to-day at Jordan's wharf, Gurnet, where she was in winter quarters. It is thought that the fire was of incendiary origin, as no one is known to have been on board the craft for several days.

During the Spanish war the Kanawha was employed as a United States dispatch boat. She had been owned by Mr. Baxter since 1904.

KEEP IT ALL.

IN buying Diamonds you obtain something practically imperishable and which is sure to enhance in value. You are money in instead of money out—providing you buy them at right prices—not to say anything about the pleasure of their possession.

Importing Diamonds direct from the cutters in Amsterdam, we are able to make prices a good deal lower than most stores, and our many years' experience in buying precious stones guarantees you against getting any inferior qualities.

INEXPENSIVE GIFTS.

No doubt you have many friends to remember at Christmas, and, much as you would like to give them expensive things, your pocket-book will possibly not permit. We have many suitable and thoroughly desirable things at small prices, which will "fill the bill."

Ladies' Belt Buckles in all sorts of new and fashionable shapes and designs.
